European Gossip—A 5t ory of Love and Revenge.

A Parisian journal relates the follow

A Parisian journal relates the following story of unlawful love and revenge: The chief actor is one of those Bedouin Englishmen who live altern tely in all the European capitals, except when they are on an occasional jaunt to Egypt of China, or to India, or to the holy land. He never travelled alone; his wife was with him, his bona fide wife, for notwithstanding his errant life—so apt to weaken one's morals—he had all the English respect for the sex, and a true Englishman's love for his wife. She was a heautiful woman, one of those "keep-sike" beauties that once seen, makes a sike" benuties that once seen, makes a man dream forever. Her social success was very great in all the cities they vis-

In Rome, after some years' marriage, they became acquainted with a German artist, of a good deal of reputation, who, to his art, jo ned the learning of a Benedictine, and knew the city of Rome as well as Winkleman or Visc ati. The German volunteered to be their cicerone in the Franch city, they are the city of the franch city, they are the city of the franch city. termin volunteered to be their cicerone in the Eterual city; they g'adly accepted his offer. Many were the hours they passed with him in the museum of the capital, the Varian, in St. Peters, and in the delightful excursions they made in the environs of Rome. The artist became in love with the English lady, and she reciprocated his affection. The husband was a long while in seeing the stain upo 1 his honor; several years had passed away before he nerevived it, for he was very much pleased with the artist, and they had long been apon the most intimate footing. Although stung to the quick by sneh faithlessness and such gross violation of the laws of hospitalty and friendship, he said nothing; he distinct seems; he was nevertheless determined upon a complete revenge, and he appealed to cooler reflections to furnish a suitable punis' ment. The passions are ball coan cllors. Heleft hady and retired with his wife of

The passions are had coun cllors. He left haly and retired with his wife in Eagland, saying nothing but an error to the artist. Where he reached England he told his wife of the painful discover to had made, and gave her back into me taker shands. He then returned to the continent alone, and visited Germany, Russia and France, where he purchased a great many paintings; he the went to Italy, meanwhile continuing in purchase paintings, and at lest—two years have now passed away since their last meeting — he called on the German painter, who still lived in Rome, and deformed estaisfaction from him. His ehdlenge was accepted, and the Englishman

Panter, who still hive in Ronde, and demanded estisfaction from him. His chillenge was accepted, and the Englishman according to the European custon—hard better than ours—being the of-tended party, selected the weapons. He chose pistols.

During the past two years he had practiced daily for s viral found, and his known address with the pistol had become un uncerting certainty of shot. He can the other without the shot wherever he wished it to go. The parties went on the grand—they were placed at thirty p ces apart, his the navigle of advancing ten step before failing. sary; his career was encountries.

A few days after the amputation, the Eng'ishman called upon him, and without noticing the angry reception he met, said to the safering artist:

"If you think my vengrance is satisfied with your shattered hand, and the wreck of your artist's career, you much juderrate the agony of a deceived, dishinonored husband. Though I have condemned you to a life of vain regrets, to a never ending series of impotent sighs, to a total oblivion by all amateurs and historians of artist."

An Important Suit.

A suit of considerable local interest and im-portance is now pending in the Court of Com-mon Pleas of Crawford County. The action is brought by George W. Wolf against Charles Her-ock, Geo. W. McCandlish and S. M. Mills. A. B. Richmond and Ira H. Pierce, Esija, of Meadwille, are the plaint if a attorneys, and Finney & Douglas, of the same place, assisted by J. H. Ba-ker, Esq., of Timeville, are the atterneys of the

The sult is instituted to restrain and prevent the defendants from closing up and building over the alley or avenue leading from the Moore House to Spring street. The issue to be decided is whether said avenue is a public thoroughfare of private property. The testimony was taken yesterday before E. H. Chase, Esq., Acting Masyesterday before E. M. Onese, Eeg, Acting ter in Chancery.

We are not informed as to the legal rights of the respective parties, nor what evidence has been ubmitted in the premises. If the street beginsed, it will of course impair the value of all property the management of George II. Spencer & Co. the fronting upon it, and destroy all business conducted in it. But the decision of this cause will Any person destring to engage in the hotel branch. public avenue. Its usage for that purpose created this belief, but mistakes will happen. We know nothing of the merits of the contraversy; if we did, we should decline to take slikes in a private litigation. The contestants have of course their own individual interests to protect or to subserve, with which the public base no concern. The public may be neutral or divided in sym.

pathy as far as the claims of John Doe or Richpathy as far as the claims of John Dor or Rich-ard Roc are concerned, but the whole communi-ty have a direct interest in streets, for they are matters of public convenience or necessity.

Spreets are laid out in view of the mathematical truth that a striight line is the shortest distince between two points, and the no less important fact that time is money. And when once laid out, whether by appropriation or sufferance, out, whether by appropriation or sufferance, they induce the investment of capital in building and business enterprises in view of their loss tion, and of the facilities they afford for necess, agress, ingress and passage,
The public, therefore, will look formal with laterest to the legal decision, which shall ad-judge the avenue in question to be private or public property. If the former—and the public sentiment deems the closing of the street dansging to the community, no doubt the owner will surrender it to public uses if proper compensa-tion and indemnity be paid bim therefor, THE project of creeting a first class hatel on the Post-office corner has been abandoned, and

It is to be regrutted that the hotel project has been abandoned, and that the fixest business property in the horough is to be covered with an inferior structure. The future of Titosville was Chapman S B 4 property in the horough is to be covered with an inferior structure. The future of Thusville was never more promising than now.
